So, you're a trainer or a teacher and you're used to creating instructional materials that are delivered face to face. But in today's world, it's becoming increasingly important to take training online and make it virtual.

What does that look like and how does it work? You're probably an expert at creating or delivering training for a group of people in person. So, you understand face-to-face learning, but an in-person training is not the same thing as a virtual training and what works in the training room might not make sense for online learning.

That's where we come in. You can use this module to learn the basics of online learning. We'll teach you the different forms online learning can take, define and explain the key terms and acronyms associated with virtual and computer-based training, and provide tips on how to take your content out of the classroom and into the virtual training room.

Scroll down to begin.